Policy 60: Academic Integrity

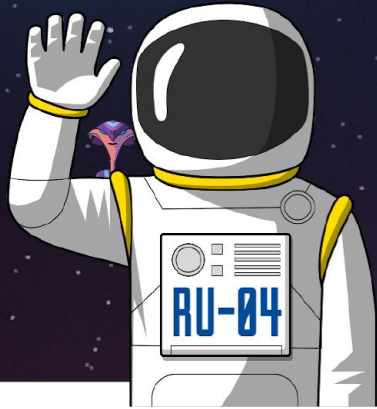

Large intimidating document that all students are responsible to know

Don't worry,
I'll save you!

INTEGRITY JUST GOT FUN...

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY IN SPACE

*Just recently, in a galaxy far far away, Captain Plague and the League of Unearned matched wits
with the students of Originon, Independus and Ethica...*

Your Mission

Successfully navigate your squad's assigned planet, save its inhabitants from Captain Plague and his League of Unearned, and report back to the base unit to debrief.

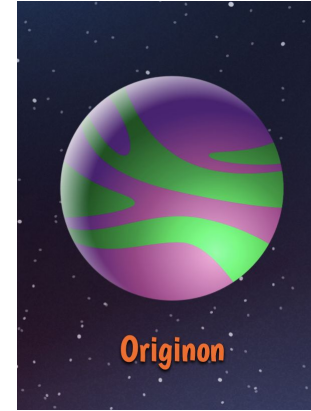

Planet Assignment

Squad 1

Squad 2

Squad 3

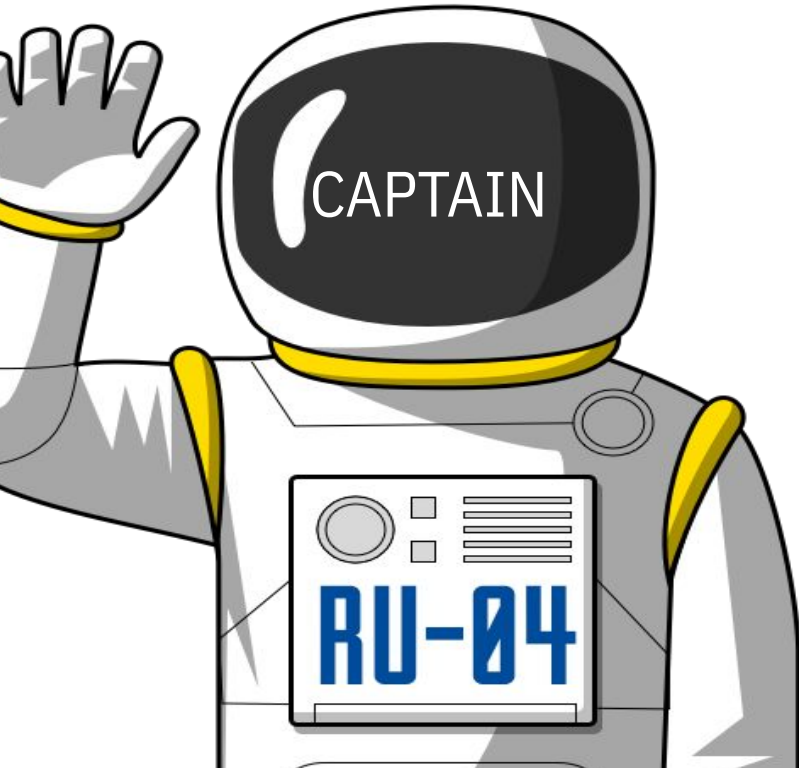

Mission Control Rooms

Each squad will work in their own Mission Control room to save their assigned planet and prepare a report for the rest of the unit.

Each control room will have a Mission Control Captain.

Mission Control Captains (MCC)

MCCs will:

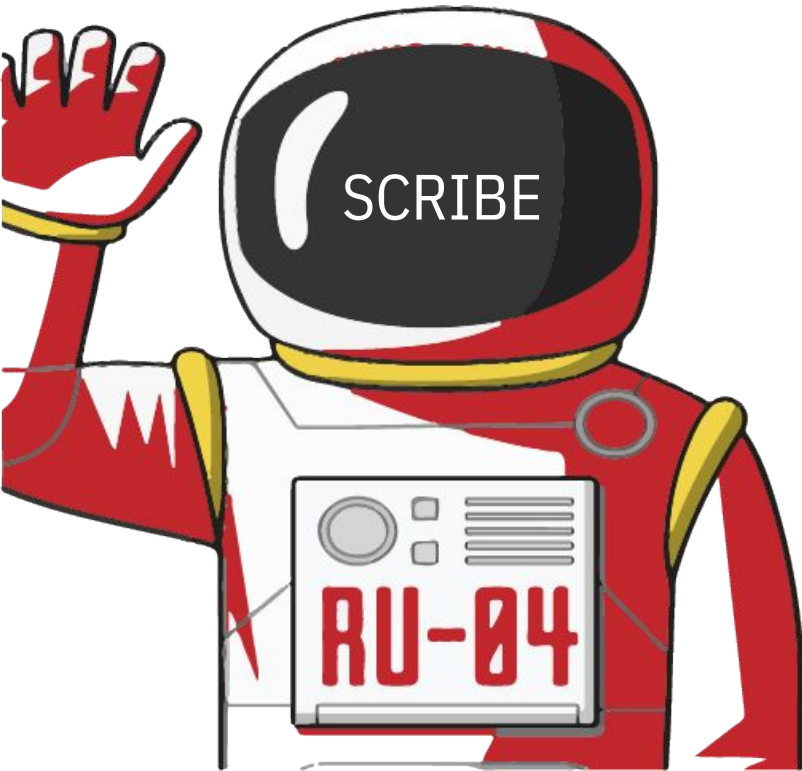

- Appoint a Scribe
- Share their screen with the rest of the squad
- Lead problem-solving conversation every step of the way
- Operate the mission controls

Pro Tip: Pay close attention to the feedback provided along the way--you'll need it for your final report

IF SUCCESSFUL, MCCs will:

- Enter squad member names and download their Certificate of Honour!

Mission Scribe

Scribes will:

- Note important lessons
- Note questions/concerns
- Provide a verbal report to the larger unit at the mission debrief

Mission Debrief: Knowledge Retrieval

Be prepared to discuss the following points with the whole unit and report on what you learned in your Academic Integrity Mission:

- Using unauthorized help
- Using unauthorized devices during exams
- Student responsibility relating to Academic Integrity policy
- Getting someone else to complete coursework online
- Self-plagiarism
- Getting editing help versus getting proofreading help
- Contract cheating
- Copying without citing a source
- Copying without using quotation marks (even if source is cited)
- Student Support Services
- Citation Styles
- How 'generosity' can contribute to academic misconduct

Disembarkation

1. Choose your captain
2. Captain →
 - a. Choose your scribe
 - b. Go to the game link and share your screen
 - c. Lead conversation and control game
3. Scribe → Notes, notes, notes
4. Team →
 - a. Bring your brain (and your voice) to the game
 - b. Let the scribe know what to record

Thank you for saving our planets!

Transition to student rights... beep boop bop...

Student Rights (and Resources)

In policy 60, the Academic Integrity Policy
And around campus

A preface ...

- It could happen to you, we're all human
- Receiving a notice of suspicion can be freaky!
- You're not alone
- It's normal to feel intimidated and overwhelmed when investigated
- Know that there are a variety of supports available to you
- There are opportunities to respond and even appeal if necessary

Advocacy Support

Based on the university's Academic Integrity Policy (Senate policy 60) there are “Student Advocates” - that's me! I'm one of two on campus.

- Can attend formal meetings, Facilitated Discussions or Non-Facilitated Discussions, or hearings with students
- Can speak on student's behalf
- Assist with the preparation of hearing statements, submission of documents for appeals
- Not actually a student, but employed by your students' union
