

A Note from the President

With the first month of this term behind me, I am finding myself continually inspired by the people around me. In a relatively short time, I have learned so much, not only about the work that TMAPS does, but about the incredible dedication of the team behind it.

One thing that has really surprised me most in this role is just how much happens behind the scenes. From advocacy efforts to event planning, educational initiatives, and student support, there is a tremendous amount of work taking place every day to ensure that students have access to the resources, information, and representation they deserve! As I continue to learn and grow in this position, I become more excited about the opportunities we have to create meaningful change for students.

Over the past month, we have also been exploring ways to make the TMAPS office a more open, welcoming, and student-driven space. We want the office to be more than just a place students visit when they need support - we want it to be a community space where students can connect, share ideas, build relationships, and contribute to the future of student advocacy. The more voices we bring together, the stronger our advocacy becomes.

As we continue to get into our summer programming, I am especially excited about increasing student engagement and expanding opportunities for students to connect with one another. Additionally, our team has already started to look ahead at the fall and has begun preparing for orientation. We are hard at work developing workshops, events, and initiatives that are not only informative, but engaging and enjoyable!

If there is one thing I hope every student takes away from this message, it is this: get involved. Keep an eye on your inbox for upcoming events and opportunities, stop by the office, share your ideas, and never hesitate to reach out if you need support or have questions. TMAPS is strongest when students are actively involved.

Thank you for your trust, your engagement, and your commitment to building a stronger student community. I look forward to connecting with many of you in the months ahead.

Warmly,

Rose
